

Unitatea 4:

POȘTA ELECTRONICĂ – O METODĂ RAPIDĂ DE COMUNICARE CU ALȚI OAMENI

Evaluare:

1. Relatați despre Soarta informației din scrisorile electronice interceptate de către persoane străine.

2. Traduceți următoarele enunțuri din limba engleză în limba română:

1. An email consists of a header and the message itself.
2. Email is a service for sending and receiving electronic messages through a computer network.
3. In terms of its elements and operating principle, email is almost identical to the traditional postal system.
4. Email borrows terms from traditional mail—such as mail, letter, envelope, mailbox, delivery—and also similar features, such as ease of use, message transmission delay, sufficient reliability, and no delivery guarantee.
5. The advantages of email include easy-to-remember addresses, the ability to send text, server independence, relatively high reliability of message delivery, and ease of use.
6. The disadvantages of email include the presence of spam, the theoretical impossibility of guaranteeing the delivery of a specific message, possible delays in message delivery, and limits on message size.
7. Nowadays, any beginner user can create a free email mailbox.
8. After mail is delivered to the final server, it performs temporary or permanent storage of the received mail.

